

Spontaneous Application

Semlex is a renowned Belgian company committed to promoting secure identity for all citizens. With over 20 years of experience, our company specializes in advising and supporting governments in the areas of biometric identification and digital security. With our in-depth expertise, we provide comprehensive and personalized support to our government partners in implementing reliable and secure identification systems.

Job Description:

At Semlex, we are always seeking passionate and motivated talent to join our teams. We encourage spontaneous applications from competent and enthusiastic individuals who wish to contribute to our mission of innovation and the development of cutting-edge biometric technologies.

Your Profile:

- A solid education in a field relevant to our industry (ICT professions, electronic engineering, management, logistics management, stock management, etc.).
- A passion for advanced technologies and a keen interest in the biometric and document printing field.
- Ability to work independently while easily integrating into a multidisciplinary team.
- Good communication skills.
- Organized, rigorous, and methodical.
- Creative and passionate, bringing innovative ideas and a willingness to expand your knowledge.
- Available and capable of responding in emergency situations.
- Curious, with a synthetic and pragmatic mindset, known for your interpersonal skills and ability to work in a team.

How to Apply?

If you are passionate about innovation and want to contribute to the development of advanced biometric technologies, please send a cover letter and your CV to jobs@semlex.com with the following subject: Spontaneous Application - [Field of Activity]. Mention the desired project (Belgium or any other country where Semlex operates).

Thank you for your interest in Semlex.